

ZACHRY

ZACHRY INDUSTRIAL, INC.

San Antonio-based Zachry Industrial, Inc. has long-held traditions of hard work, quality and trust. From small beginnings in Laredo, Texas, the company has grown to include 15,000 employees, with nearly 2,300 in the Houston/Pasadena area. Their sites span the country in both maintenance and construction. With 30-plus offices, including Zachry Engineering Corporation locations, Zachry has become a domestic leader in industrial EPCM projects. In the Houston area alone, Zachry boasts 58 continuous maintenance sites and 13 ongoing construction projects sites, with many more already completed.

The recent Pasadena Chamber of Commerce Industry of the Year Award mirrors the Zachry core values—Safety, Commitment, Trust, Integrity, Service, Economy and Skill. Zachry strives to partner with customers and the community to assemble a caring force to those in need. The company focuses efforts on doing the right thing for the right reasons, whether in collaboration with customers, employees or the communities where they live and work. Zachry has had a presence in the Houston area for decades and also houses an office in Houston.

Originally H. B. Zachry Company, Zachry was founded in 1924 by newly graduated Texas A&M University civil engineer Henry Bartell "Pat" Zachry. The 22-year-old entrepreneur soon landed his first project—a $40,000 bridge construction job for the Texas Highway Department. The job was completed with dirt-moving mules and dedicated workers, starting a long tradition of finishing every job with integrity.

Not long after its formation, Zachry worked multiple government contracts including jobs for the U.S. Department of Agriculture and $50 million worth of defense work from 1942-1945. At the same time, work in general building, heavy civil, and refining and petrochemical industries began. The great demand for power in the '50s led Zachry to pursue large scale opportunities in the power industry. In 1952, the main offices moved from Laredo to San Antonio to better serve their growing clientele.

Zachry's presence in the power industry flourished during the next 10 years, evidenced by the company's completion of 17 major power projects in just a decade. In the '70s, production in coal-fueled power projects grew to include seven plants worth $200 million, with the capability of delivering a total of 3,700 megawatts of power. Over the next 20 years, Zachry continued work in both civil and industrial construction.

Since 1990, Zachry has focused on its core competencies to better serve construction and industrial maintenance customers. The company is engaged in the planning, building and renewing of the world's most critical industrial facilities. Zachry remains a family-owned, privately held organization, whose long list of experience has led to more than 6,000 completed projects in the United States and abroad.
